To the Moms Who Do It All—Even on the Hard Days

Mother's Day is a time to celebrate the women who show up every single day—often without recognition, without breaks, and without missing a beat.

To the moms juggling careers, carpools, and everything in between.
To the single moms carrying it all on their own.
To the caregivers, the stepmoms, the grandmothers, and the mother figures who step in when it matters most—this is for you.

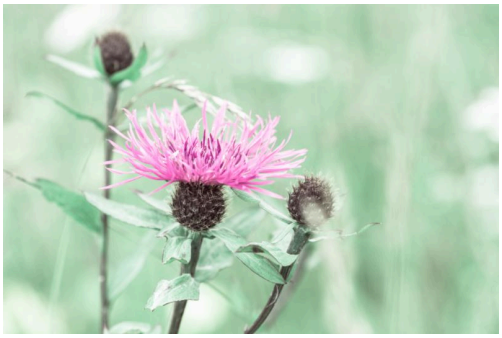

Being a mom means being prepared for just about anything. It's keeping track of the little details, solving problems before they happen, and staying strong even on the days that feel overwhelming. It's a role that requires patience, resilience, and a whole lot of heart.
But even the strongest people shouldn't have to carry everything alone.

Life has a way of throwing the unexpected our way. And when it does, having the right support system can make all the difference—whether that's family, friends, or trusted professionals who are there when you need them most.

This Mother's Day, we celebrate the strength, dedication, and care that moms bring into the world every day. And we're reminded that taking care of yourself is just as important as taking care of everyone else.

From all of us at Goldstein Hayes, thank you for everything you do—today and every day.

May 9-10: Sweet Auburn Springfest

Historic Sweet Auburn District

The Sweet Auburn Springfest is one of the largest free outdoor festivals in the Southeast, drawing thousands of attendees each year to the historic Sweet Auburn District. Known for its lively, community-focused atmosphere, the festival features multiple stages of live music, a wide variety of food vendors, and an expansive marketplace filled with art, clothing, and handmade goods.

May 9-10: Dunwoody Art Festival

Dunwoody Village Parkway

The Dunwoody Art Festival is a beloved Mother's Day weekend tradition that transforms Dunwoody Village into a vibrant outdoor art market. Featuring work from talented artists across the country, the festival offers everything from paintings and photography to handmade jewelry and unique home décor—making it a perfect place to find one-of-a-kind gifts.

Mid-May: Decatur Arts Festival

Decatur Square

Held annually over Memorial Day weekend, the Decatur Arts Festival is a vibrant, community-focused event that transforms downtown Decatur into a walkable outdoor gallery. The festival features an artist market showcasing painters, photographers, sculptors, and mixed-media artists from across the country, along with live music performances and interactive activities for all ages.

In addition to the outdoor festivities, visitors can explore the “Art Walk,” where local galleries and businesses host exhibits and special installations throughout the city. With its blend of fine art, live entertainment, and family-friendly activities, the Decatur Arts Festival offers a relaxed, creative atmosphere that highlights both local talent and the charm of one of Atlanta’s most beloved neighborhoods.

Late May: Atlanta Food & Wine Festival

Midtown Atlanta

The Atlanta Food & Wine Festival is one of the city’s premier culinary events, bringing together top chefs, mixologists, and food experts from across the South for a multi-day celebration of flavor and culture. Guests can explore large tasting tents featuring dozens of restaurants and beverage vendors, attend chef-led cooking demonstrations, and participate in wine and cocktail seminars designed for both beginners and enthusiasts.

Beyond tastings, the festival also offers exclusive dining experiences, including multi-course dinners and curated brunches hosted at some of Atlanta’s most popular restaurants. With a focus on Southern cuisine and regional ingredients, it’s a unique opportunity to experience the depth and creativity of Atlanta’s food scene—all in one place.

Firm News

Welcoming Chris Bridgers to Goldstein Hayes

We are proud to welcome Chris Bridgers to the Goldstein Hayes team. Chris joins the firm as a civil litigation attorney, bringing with him an impressive academic background, strong courtroom training, and a clear passion for advocacy.

Chris earned his J.D., magna cum laude, from Georgia State University College of Law, where he was awarded the Law Dean’s Scholarship and served as a member of the Law Review. During law school, he further sharpened his litigation skills as a research assistant and as part of Georgia State's Trial Advocacy program. He also holds a B.S.B.A. in Finance, magna cum laude, from Auburn University.

Before joining Goldstein Hayes, Chris gained valuable hands-on experience at Weinberg Wheeler Hudgins Gunn & Dial, where he developed a strong foundation in complex civil litigation. Today, his practice focuses on areas including trucking and transportation, premises liability, and commercial litigation—fields that demand both precision and strategic thinking.

Chris has already contributed to high-level litigation efforts, including a defense-favorable verdict in a significant personal injury case where the plaintiff sought over $45 million at trial. His ability to navigate complex disputes and deliver strong outcomes makes him a valuable addition to our team.

Outside the office, Chris enjoys cooking, spending time outdoors, and being with family and friends. He is also an active member of the Greek Orthodox Church. Chris and his wife are currently expecting their first child, an exciting new chapter that we are thrilled to celebrate with him.

We are excited to have Chris on board and look forward to the skill, dedication, and perspective he brings to our clients and our firm.

Client Testimonial

"I hired Goldstein Hayes after a car accident in Atlanta and had a very good experience. Jonathan Hayes and his paralegal, Jessica Breeze, were straightforward, responsive, and handled everything with the insurance company from start to finish.

If you need a personal injury lawyer in Atlanta for a car accident, I would recommend Goldstein Hayes. They know what they're doing and got my case resolved efficiently with a strong settlement."
